Welcome Tanner

On figshare you can make all your research objects available in a matter of seconds. As soon as you upload your data it can instantly become citable, sharable and discoverable, allowing you to get credit for all of your research. You retain full ownership of your data under a creative commons license.

You also get 1GB of private space to store the research you don't want to make public just yet. All data is securely backed up and can only be accessed by you, from everywhere in the world.

If you have any comments, problems or suggestions, please get in touch by emailing info@figshare.com, or via twitter, facebook or google+.

Thanks a lot,
The figshare team
